dot-dot-dot.

noun

a symbol of possibility, the pause before what comes next; the uncertainty and potential in every person's journey.

"built for those who step into the unknown and write their own story."

chapter ten

go further

what happens when you stop holding back.

chapter ten is dotdotdot at its most ambitious. we've spent three years learning what the brand is: who it's for, what it stands for, how it grows. this drop is the answer to all of that. fourteen pieces that push further than we've gone before, built for the people who've been with us from the start and the ones just finding us now.

the hidden opponent is the leading nonprofit for athlete mental health advocacy, education, and support. founded by victoria garrick browne, they work to destigmatize mental health in sports and connect student-athletes, coaches, and parents with the resources they need. going further means taking care of your whole self — that's why chapter ten is proud to support their mission.

a percentage of chapter ten sales will be donated to the hidden opponent.
